

The Macmillan Business English Programme: Intermediate: Trainers Guide

This programme of business English materials has been developed following an analysis of learner needs in a number of countries, and through piloting. The programme has been devised as a five-level course, with a course book, trainers pack and audio material at each level for class use, plus a self-study pack in monolingual and bilingual editions. The levels can be used consecutively, or each level can be used independently of the others (levels: elementary; pre-intermediate; intermediate; higher-intermediate; advanced). In addition to the core items at each level there are modules. These more specialized books may be used either to supplement the core material or to provide material in their own right on courses for specific purposes. There are also videos to accompany the course.
